CURE FOR CANCER.

The new cancer cure of Dr. Otto Schmidt, of Cologne, was presented in London on Thursday night before a meeting of the Abernethian Society of St. Bartholomew's Hospital by Dr. Josse Johnson, London physician, who has been examining the methods of Dr. Schmidt.

A few months ago the wife of a well-known millionaire learned that she was suffering from cancer. An eminent London surgeon refused to operate, owing to the hopelessness of her case. She became a patient of Dr. Schmidt and derived so much benefit from his treatment that her husband dispatched Dr. Josse Johnson to investigate Dr. Schmidt's methods.

"Dr. Schmidt's opinion," Dr. Johnson says, "is that cancer is conditional on the presence in the patient of a cancer parasite which produces a structural change in the cells of the part affected. He believes he has isolated the specific parasite. With this parasite Dr. Schmidt has done two things—he seems to have sterilized it with liquid air and he has also injected it into animals and developed a serum which has the power of destroying cancer cells. Sterilized parasites he used for one treatment, which he calls actrol. Animal serum he used for his second treatment. Most of his treatments have been carried out with the first method."

He found on injecting the first preparation that in eight or ten hours the patient became feverish and cancerous, and the growth became painful and infamed."

Both preparations were tried on healthy persons, including Dr. Johnson, and produced no results. These injections are the first treatment. This is the strongest form. The serum is a more attenuated form, suitable for cases where the patient is much weakened. For the cure of cancer Dr. Schmidt requires three things—arrest of the process, removal of the growth and the fact that no vital organ has been seriously injured.
